

JOIN OUR TEAM

J1 Trainee USA

About us

The GMT Group is a privately owned corporation headquartered in Bühl, Germany with more than 1000 employees worldwide. We are a leading specialist in the field of anti-vibration technology.

This job offer is for GMT International Corporation, our US subsidiary located in Villa Rica, Georgia where we produce our products for the North American market. The location currently employs 16 people and the management is German speaking.

We offer

- The J1 Trainee program gives you the opportunity to gain comprehensive experience in a global environment
- At our US location you will get to know several departments in administration during your time at this location and will be integrated in several projects, tasks and duties

You will also get to know selected production departments and might be involved in projects here

Your qualification

- You are an enrolled undergraduate/ Bachelor student and motivated to gain some experience abroad
- You are at least 18 years of age
- You have a valid driver license (German type B) as well as an international driver license
- You are fluent in written and spoken English
- You are open-minded and communicative
- You are able to work in a team and you have a high level of social competence
- You need to fulfil the J1 Trainee Program requirements and must be in possession of an approved J-1 visa before starting the job; GMT USA will actively support you during this complete application process

We are looking forward to your application! Please send your full application documents including cover letter, CV and your earliest possible date of entry to:

GMT International Corporation
Human Resources
56 Conners Rd, Villa Rica,
GA 30180, United States
s.otto@gmt-international.com www.gmt-gmbh.com

Gummi · Metall · Technik